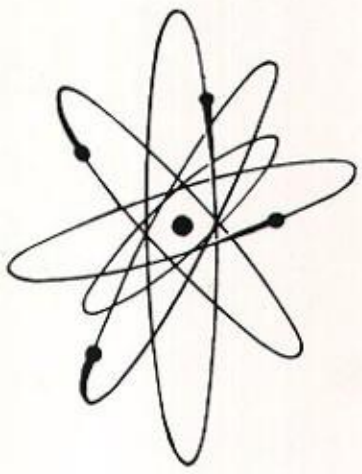
Foreword

"To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

"Beauty is truth, truth beauty - that is all ye know on earth and all ye need to know."

"They have learned nothing, and forgotten nothing."

"Now that is the wisdom of a man, in every instance of his labour, to hitch his wagon to a star, and see his chore done by the Gods themselves."



The purpose of a yearbook is to provide us with a pictorial remembrance of the achievements, the disappointments, the fun we had, and our own personal memories of a year gone by. We of the '68 Caprock hope that we not only fulfill this purpose, but yet another. We believe an annual should also serve as a tribute toward the institution of education. The years of preparation for a future to come are a memory in themselves, and that is why we of the annual staff of '68 dedicate this Foreword as well as our Caprock to the knowledge and education of man.

Superintendent's Message

As the school year goes sliding down the home stretch and we start collecting the evidence of a year's work in the form of an Annual, it gives us a chance to pause and contemplate what education means to us, now.

First, it means a greater awareness of all the skills necessary to keep our technology in high gear. Our high schools will accept this fact by making more facilities and instructors available in vocational-technical work.

Secondly, there will be a greater awareness on the part of most students to study for a career in a much more serious manner than in the past. You will make more use of your guidance counselor in a vocational and technical sense.

Thirdly, higher education will become a "MUST" for those who wish to seek professional status.

It will be an exciting and interesting world, and much of it will be recorded in the pages of your high school Annual.

Best wishes,

Hazen Lawson, Superintendent

Principal's Message

The public schools of our country are making front page headlines in our daily newspapers. "Teacher's Strike" appears in bold headlines. Integration problems are the basis for many news stories and for much editorializing. Urban newspapers right here in Montana report accounts of the lack of classroom space, necessitating double-shift scheduling of students. Newspapers and magazines constantly remind us of the critical shortage of teachers. As a result, many schools across our nation continue to be served by uncertified and unqualified teachers.

Fortunately, our school has not made this sort of front page reading. As we close this 1967-68 school year, perhaps we should look back, with gratitude, upon the educational opportunities which have been ours. It is my belief, also, that we can look forward, with hope, toward even brighter educational horizons at NTCHS in the days ahead.

In Memoriam

LONNIE SHORTELL

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so:
For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; not yet canst thou kill me.
From Rest and Sleep, which but thy picture be,
Much pleasure, then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go -
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!
Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more: Death, thou shalt die!
